A Run To Remember

by Chris Earley

"Things that were hard to bear are sweet to remember." – Seneca

I am always looking for ways to further bond with my kids. I believe there is nothing better for children than to have their parents present in their lives as much as possible. Our town has an annual 4th of July road race that I thought would be an awesome experience for Oliver and I to do together. It did not disappoint.

While it is no marathon, this road race is still 4.5 miles from start to finish. I don't run frequently and Oliver is only 9 so this run was challenging for both of us. For a 9 year-old especially, 4.5 miles is like a mini-marathon. While we both struggled, we were definitely buoyed and encouraged by the crowds that gathered along the race route to cheer on all the runners. It pumped us up and made the race a really thrilling experience.

We finished the race and I was so proud of Oliver for his accomplishment. He once again showed me his grit and character. He showed me once again that he does not quit when things get hard. That will get him so far in life. Bonding through adversity he will discover is the best and most enduring kind of bonding. I hope he looks back and remembers that awesome father/son experience that we shared together.

I would love to hear about your bonding stories with your kids or grandkids. Email me at cearley@chrisearley.com and share them with me! ■

Birthday Girls

by Chris Earley

Alice and my Mom both have August birthdays. They are 2 of the 3 most important women in my life and they profoundly influence me in immeasurable ways. They each have and continue to contribute to my life in ways that truly bring out the very best in me.

Becoming a girl dad has changed me. It has teased out of me a uniquely gentler and more compassionate side that only having a daughter can bring out of a man. As I have written before in this space, Alice has me wrapped around her finger. Plus, at 5 years-old, she is already tougher than I will ever be. She is an incredible force in my life. She makes me want to get better each and every day at being the best dad and person I can be.

My Mom also celebrates a birthday this month. She raised me alone in the face of adversity. Things could have easily gone sideways but she wouldn't allow that to happen to us. Throughout my upbringing she always figured out how to put me in positions to thrive. She made countless sacrifices for me. For her, education was vitally important. I remember her crying on the phone when I called her to tell her I passed the Bar Exam. My success never would have happened without her.

Happy, happy birthday to both of you! I love both of you so much. ■

"Incredibly helpful and kind."

I called Christopher Earley's office for a consultation about an accident I was involved in and both Christopher and his entire team were incredibly helpful and kind. I would recommend reaching out if you are unsure as to what next steps you should take.

"He was awesome to work with."

A few years ago I was referred to Attorney Chris Earley's office. Once I got there his staff was very professional. When I started talking to him he made me feel comfortable. His calm and empathetic demeanor offered emotional support to me. He was awesome to work with.

RORY'S RECIPES: Tasty Trail Mix

This simple and tasty treat (but called trail mix to make it sound healthy) is the best! I first had it in the mid-90's when I spent a week in an Outward Bound-type camp in Maine. I hated camping, but the "gorp" as they called it, was worth the struggle!

INGREDIENTS:

12oz raisins

12oz salted peanuts

12oz M&M's

DIRECTIONS:

- 1 Mix all 3 ingredients up in a Ziplock bag.
- 2 Enjoy by the handful!!
