ATTENTION ACCIDENT VICTIM:

7 SECRETS INSURANCE ADJUSTERS DON'T WANT YOU TO KNOW ABOUT

- 1. When they tell you their offer if final, they are lying. Nearly every adjuster can get additional settlement authority from a supervisor to settle a case.
- 2. You don't have to sign anything. You never want to sign anything an insurance adjuster sends you without having it reviewed by an attorney.
- 3. You should hire a lawyer. They won't tell you this but they don't want you to hire a lawyer because that means they will have to pay you a fair settlement.
- 4. You should never settle a claim quickly. By settling to quickly you may be leaving money on the table!
- 5. You don't need to provide a recorded statement. Ignore the adjuster when he/she insists you provide a recorded statement.
- 6. Even minor car accidents can cause personal injuries. Studies show that serious personal injuries can result even with little to moderate damages to the cars involved in the accident.
- 7. You have up to three years to settle your case. If the adjuster says you should settle quickly, just ignore this noise.
